Curriculum Philosophy	30 years of research has indicated that children learn best through engaging in an emergent play based approach to learning. This approach is aligned with how children’s brain’s develop and grow in the critical early years, and set the foundation for higher functioning learning in the years to come. FCS Preschool’s curriculum approach emphasizes the importance of Social Emotional Development and Learning as the foundation and catalyst for later academic success in implementing the Teaching Pyramid Model. All practices and approaches to learning are aligned with Best Practices as outlined by The National Association for the Education of Young Children.
